Consolidated War Effort Planned Locally

HIGH SCHOOL ORATORY WON BY DON WATT

Will Speak In County Contest At St. Catharines Next Month — Open House Was Held Tuesday.

Donald Watt, speaking on "Dakar", was last Tuesday evening named winner of the oratorical contest which featured an "open house" at the Grimsby High School. As winner, he will be representing Grimsby at the annual contest held by the Lions Club in St. Catharines. The contest there will be held next month.

Other winners announced by a board of three judges were: junior boys, Nigel Bant; junior girls, Louise Knight; senior girls, Leslie Pope. The speakers were introduced by Edward McNinch, president of the student's council, and the judging was done by Mrs. Erwin Phelps, Harold Matchett and Robert Glendinning.

A display of school work, note books, art and hobbies was presented and the many parents and friends who attended found the display highly interesting.

Prior to the speaking contest, athletic events were staged in the gymnasium. Two boxing matches, believed to be the first boxing ever done in the high school provided much action, with Donald Merritt and Harold Duffield being so closely matched that the judges were unable to pick a winner. In the bout between Ian Marr and Douglas Cole, the former had a slight edge over the latter.

Basketball was the other big game feature, and two evenly-matched girls' teams provided some fast action, and after the time limit had been reached, they were tied at twelve all. A two minute overtime to find a winner of the girls' school league was enough for the team captained by Norma Marlow to emerge victorious. Besides holding their opponents scoreless, they were able to add a couple of tallies to their own count.

In the boys' basketball, a really hefty game was played, and when the smoke of battle had cleared away the score stood at 6-6. The game was fast and exciting.

Strange What Is Done In Spring!

Spring, spring, boddifool spring! That might have been the theme song of the Grimsby Boy Scouts last evening as they went hiking over the mountain. At least Leon Betzner can claim it as his. The boys went romancing over the hills and dales and across the streams, jumping from stone to stone. Leon took one jump too many... What looked like a boulder in the half light of the setting sun turned out to be froth lying on the water. Leon went in up to his waist. It might be that he was just giving the boys an object lesson on looking before they leaped.

Memorial Service St. John's Church

On Sunday, March 22, at the morning diet of worship, a memorial service for Perry McLean, R.C.A.F., was held at St. John's Presbyterian Church of which deceased had been a member. An honour scroll on which were inscribed the names of the men of the church on active service which numbered nineteen, was unveiled by Mrs. H. L. Roberts, who also read aloud the names of the men. One minute of silence was observed, followed by a Prayer of Dedication by the minister, Rev. George Taylor-Munro. A solo, "Light at Eventide" was rendered by Mr. Charles Gunstone of Norwood, Ontario. Mrs. Tweedy, organist and choir leader of the church, accompanied Mr. Gunstone.

Shopkeepers Look For Upward Trend In Local Business Due To Rationing

After next Tuesday gasoline will be unobtainable to motorists without the ration books which are now being distributed, and already many motorists have received theirs.

Many of the applications which have been entered, however, have been for greater amounts of gasoline than have been allowed and, several have expressed their amazement over this fact. One traveller, who normally covers about thirty-six thousand miles per year, found that he was placed in a category which allows him only twelve thousand. Remarked he philosophically, "I guess they mean business."

As the pinch of the gasoline ration becomes more felt, business along Main Street will pick up somewhat, according to the majority of merchants. They foresee less travelling to Hamilton and St. Catharines, and a consequent lessening of the amount of money which goes out of town regularly. One merchant explained that while there were several items which could not be obtained locally, he thought that the inclinations to run into Hamilton whenever they were wanted would be curtailed unless it was absolutely necessary.

Merchants are also directing their customers to the regulations which have gone into effect regarding deliveries. These regulations prohibit any more than one delivery per day, and most merchants are of the opinion that they are getting good cooperation especially from housewives.

"I think they understand the situation," said one. "Just today I had a lady call up with an order which she wanted right away, but when I explained it was too late for delivery until the next day, she didn't seem to be put out at all. Quite a change from a few months ago."

Last Legion Bingo To Be Held Tonite

The last of the series of bingos which have been staged in Hawke's Hall by the Canadian Legion will be held this evening. These bingos have been well attended, and the Legion members who have been responsible for them report that they have proved a highly-successful venture.

As this is the last of the series, all prizes remaining must go in order that the series will be completely finished. Indications are that they will be resumed again in the fall.

Passing Of Miss Unwin Is Reported From Old Country

J. W. Unwin, Main Street East, received word from the old country to the effect that his sister, Miss H. Margaret Unwin, passed away there. Miss Unwin, who was in her sixty-ninth year, is well remembered here, having resided in this community for sometime several years ago.

Miss Unwin was keenly interested in work for the blind. She mastered the Braille system by which blind persons read, and engaged herself in writing for them in this form.

First Gasoline Theft In Weeks

The first gasoline theft in some time was reported this week when it was discovered that a truck owned by the Grimsby Dairy had been siphoned dry. So far no tire thefts have been reported.

GRANTS MADE FROM SALVAGE COLLECTIONS

Second Distribution Of Four Hundred And Fifty Dollars Is Made Today—Local War-time Workers Benefit

Five different organizations which have an interest in some wartime project again felt the benefit of Grimsby's salvage collection as checks were issued today from receipts of the sale of scrap material.

The checks issued were for a total of four hundred and fifty dollars, and this marks the second time such grants have been made within the period of six months.

Those who have received checks, or will be receiving them within the next few days, include L.O.D.E. War Services committee, the cigarettes fund being collected for Grimsby men now on active service, the Grimsby and District branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, and Evening Telegram's British War Victim's Fund and the Lions British Child War Victims' Fund. In all instances save one the grant was made for one hundred dollars, while the cigarette fund receives fifty dollars.

These same organizations received similar amounts in the previous distribution of the salvage fund earnings.

Cigarette Fund

The Chamber of Commerce Cigarette Fund collection for the month of February amounted to $100.00, donation from the Grimsby Young Men's Chorus $32.50; making a total of $141.50. This means that 41 more soldiers were sent 300 cigarettes this month.

Praise For The Red Cross Society

(The following letter was received by this paper from Robert Aldrick, now a prisoner of war in German custody. In view of the forthcoming appeal by the Red Cross Society for funds to carry on its important work, this letter, reprinted exactly as it was received, is of more than timely interest.—Editor)

The Editor,
The Grimsby Independent.
Dear Sir:

This letter may give you some idea of how much we prisoners of war rely on the Red Cross Society for all the services rendered. A donation of ten shillings per week is asked from the next of kin; to me, this seems a small sum for the good work which they do. Without a doubt the most important benefit we receive are the weekly food parcels. They add food value otherwise lacking. In our camp we have tasted English, United States and Canadian food, and in spite of the tasty variety of the English, the Canadian are by far the most prized. They contain one pound of butter, bully beef, cheese, biscuits, salmon, sardines, powdered milk, pork roll, prunes, raisins, chocolate, sugar and tea. A wholesome parcel! The International Red Cross in Geneva has sent large consignments of clothes for needy prisoners. Warm woolens and blankets have made a severe winter more bearable. This supply has been supplemented by the constantly arriving parcels from relatives. Wherever there isn't enough to go around, the German authorities provide the necessary garments.

Another welcome comfort are the cigarettes. The Red Cross tries to provide fifty cigarettes weekly per man, but sometimes this program is upset. The Red Cross also endeavours to supply literature of all kinds for our needs. We had no books at all when we arrived, now many classics and light novels form our library. We have not neglected our religion either, and now we have a number of prayer books and Bibles for our Sunday evening services conducted by a prisoner of war. Medical supplies have also been sent and are in charge of two R.A.M.C. orderlies. These things all depend on transportation and of course the proper organization of the Red Cross. On such a large scale it is impossible to expect favorable results in all cases, and to keep track of all shipments. Besides the usual receipt forms, a Red Cross representative periodically visits all camps checking conditions. I am ashamed to confess that at one time when the Red Cross asked for donations, I doubted the purpose of my "two bits". Now thousands (of prisoners of war at least) say: "Thank God for the Red Cross."

Local Red Cross Despatched Many Completed Items During The Month

The following goods were shipped by the Grimsby and District Branch of the Red Cross as their March shipment to the Toronto Warehouse:

Will Observe Her 92nd Anniversary

Mrs. Dorothea Heise, Kidd Ave., will be the recipient of congratulations from the whole community tomorrow. She will celebrate her ninety-second birthday. Living with her daughter, Mrs. George Kanmacher, Mrs. Heise enjoys good health and is looking forward to a quiet celebration.

WILL FORM COUNCIL OUT OF REPRESENTATIVES OF LOCAL GROUPS BUSY ON WAR WORK

Hamilton Man Outlines Plan To Consolidate War Effort — Will Not Supplant Present Organization — May Be Canadian Pattern.

Speaking last Sunday afternoon,

Mr. Kelley remarked that the thoughts he had in mind when presenting his plan to Grimsby were not that Grimsby was making a poor effort in her war work. On the contrary, he said, the district's showing had been excellent, and he was hoping that the plan which Grimsby adopts might be the yardstick for similar plans throughout the Dominion. He said that it was Grimsby's enthusiasm for getting a project started and going through with it that made him choose this community.

Paying tribute to the work that had been done, Mr. Kelley remarked that with a little more co-operation, much more could be done. There were a number of ways in which the program could be undertaken, and he hoped that before long a plan for consolidation could be worked out which would result in more people taking a part in the war-work being done here.

In answer to a question, Mr. Kelley made it clear that the program outlined would not bring all war work under one head. He stated that each organization would carry on just as it had done, but that the program would carry a greater efficiency be achieved.

Some of the specific instances in which the war effort could be strengthened, he said, were to be found in making the citizens just a little more careful than they are. Mr. Kelley cited that lack of co-operation with regard to the salvage collections as one subject which might be taken into consideration. He admitted that even he, until he was shown in his own home, did not know that he was remiss in this matter. Education with regard to the use of electricity and water conservation were also mentioned by the speaker.

The proper planting of vegetable gardens by householders was another topic which the speaker thought might well be taken up.

Included in the plan which was presented Sunday was a census of the whole district to be taken with a view to finding out what each person in the town and township is capable of doing. This census would embrace all over 12 years of age, and would be conducted in a house to house canvass by volunteers. Mr. Kelley thought that this plan would be especially helpful in regard to the forthcoming farm labour problem, and Miss Ann Crane, secretary of the local committee appointed to work with the Farm Service Force declared that Alex McLaren, head of the force, would be conducted in this view. To be effective, however, Miss Crane warned that it would have to be undertaken almost immediately.

At the same time as the census is being taken, Mr. Kelley suggested that a card might be left at each home, on which would be listed the various items of salvage which should be collected, and of which the average person is not aware.

"I have discussed this matter with officials in Ottawa," Mr. Kelley said. "They are extremely interested in it down there, and you can be sure that they will be watching the progress of Grimsby. Not only Ottawa, but the whole of Canada will know of this town before long. I am sure that there will be one person here today who will not feel that he is taking a more active interest in the war when this is over."

Meeting Monday Will Get Organization Under Way Following Church Services On Sunday — Interest In Discussion Shown.

A consolidated war effort in Grimsby and North Grimsby, under which more active home-front war prosecution would be waged, and in which all the clubs and societies now engaged in war work will be able to have the fuller co-operation of the public, was outlined to a representative gathering which included the town and township councils last Sunday noon in the town hall.

As a result of the meeting, and the meetings which followed it on Monday evening and yesterday afternoon, there is to be formed a council composed of one from each of the community's associations, from which an executive of five is to be chosen. The first meeting of this council is to take place on Monday evening, and invitations are being sent to the various clubs and societies asking that they be represented at that time.

Officially the plan gets underway Sunday when, it is hoped by those interested in the project that all Grimsby and district citizens will attend the church of their faith. Yesterday afternoon cards were distributed to ladies from each church, and those are to be left at church doors in the town and township. Day has been designated as a special day of prayer by His Majesty the King.

It is hoped that as a result of the general meeting next Monday evening arrangements will be completed for the holding of a concert, at which representative speakers from the Department of National War Services, Ottawa, will be present. Musical numbers will be presented by a group of Hamilton artists.

Disastrous Fire Destroys Stewart Home In Township

The residence of James Boyd, on the Ridge Road at the Woolverton Mountain, was completely destroyed last Thursday afternoon despite the three hour battle offered the stubborn fire by local firemen and neighbours.

The fire, believed to have started from a spark which landed on the roof, quickly spread to the whole house, and firemen hampered by a lack of water, were unable to cope with it. Damage is thought to have been about eight thousand dollars, and was only partially covered by insurance.

Some furniture was removed from the house by Mr. and Mrs. Boyd who had the assistance of Owen Howard, who resides across the road from their home. However, not all the furniture was removed, and what was left was destroyed by the fire when the whole structure was enveloped.

Firemen experienced difficulty in procuring adequate water supplies. Two lines of hose were laid on their arrival, and after the cistern had been exhausted, two wells were used. While the hoses were being transferred from the cistern to the well the fire, which appeared to be almost under control, started up again, and was soon beyond the powers of the firefighters.

The house, which was at one time owned by Joseph Stewart, was regarded as one of the finest homes of this district. It was beautifully finished, containing twelve rooms, and was well known throughout the Niagara Peninsula.

The Transfigured
Meets Humane Need

Luke 9:28-43

GOLDEN TEXT

They were all amazed at the mighty power of God.—Luke 9:43.

Approach to the Lesson

The Apostle Peter tells us that the transfiguration was a picture of the power and coming of Our Lord Jesus Christ (2nd Peter 1:16-18). It was a miniature of the Kingdom which is yet to be manifested in this world. Jesus Himself intimated that. (Matt: 16:28) Luke 9:27).

A Lesson Outline*The Coming Kingdom

The transfigured Christ seen as Lord of all. Moses, representing the risen saints. Elijah, representing those changed without dying (1st Thessalonians 4:14-18). The three disciples represent restored Israel on the earth. The afflicted Father and Son, represent the needy world. Demons cast out, represent Satan's power broken by Christ.

Heart of the Lesson

The picture of the lesson is a very complete one, setting forth the power and coming of Our Lord Jesus Christ as it will be manifested at His second advent.

Application

Following closely upon His announcement of His approaching death and resurrection, Our Lord took the three disciples, who seemed to be "distracted by the sight of the man, where He gave them to see 'the Kingdom of God come with power'" (Mark 9:1). This was to fortify their faith in view of His crucifixion. May it also fortify our flesh, too, as it will as we put our trust in Him and wait for His coming to rule and reign in righteousness on the earth.

Anxiety is the poison of human life, the parent of many fierce sins, and of more miseries.

Ontario Paintings On Display

More and more art conscious people are finding their way to Scott's Art Gallery, next door to the Post Office, in Hamilton, well known for its frequent exhibitions of the works of Canadian artists.

There are now being shown some fifty oil paintings, mostly Ontario pastorals, with a few Quebec scenes, from the brush of Robert L. Chadwick. "Back home" pictures, we should call them, that pull at the heart strings of the country bred.

You will find here the broad pastures, the spacious barns, the harvest fields, the road through the woods, the grist mill, the gaunt farm houses, all characteristic of the Ontario country side. (Why must Ontario farmhouses be so uncompromisingly bleak and bare and fenceless?)

To mention only a few, — November Hillside, Northern Rock, Towards Evening, Willow Spring, Laurentian Farmhouse, Late Autumn, Soldier's Bay, Command Lake, Blacksmith Shop-Vendor, Near Holland Landing, Road to Ste. Adèle — Laurentian Mountains, Mill — Guelph, impressed us most. Nearly all are small canvases, nine or ten inches square.

On another floor was a fine collection of water colours by Hugh Douglas Robertson, photographic in their detail, with great expanses of sky. We rejoice that the day of smudgy, meaningless daubs has gone and that intelligible, pleasing and interesting pictures have taken their place.

Some of the more outstanding of this artist's offerings were, — Spring Planting, Inlet, Birches, Autumn Pastures, Edge of Woods — Autumn, Trees in November, Autumn Afternoon, Oak Tree — Autumn, Rocky Shore — Georgian Bay, Lovers' Lane — Ancaster, Gaspé Hills.

Mrs. M. Alexander offers a pleasing group of oils, proceeds charities. Six are flower subjects, and the others Grand Manitou Island, and Dundas Canal.

Stafford D. Plant and Stuart C. Shaw each show a few pictures, and on the opposite wall the fresh colours of Juanita LeBarre Symington's flower and autumn subjects attract the eye.

Nothing could be more realistic than Tom Stone's snow-covered spruce trees. This artist's work is outstanding for clarity and attention to detail.

Where did Hortense Gordon stand, we wonder, to get that wide view over the rolling farm lands of Ancaster which she has perpetuated in her canvas. Snow—Ancaster?

Have Used Stamps Salvage Value?

IT is quite true, according to Hon. W. P. Mulock, postmaster-general, that cancelled Canadian postage stamps have a sales value per pound in England, where they were purchased by dealers for assembly in groups and resale to collectors. But he doubts if the sending of large bales of such stamps to Great Britain is practical. "It may happen that the British Admiralty will make restrictions in regard to space allotted for transport of material that is not actually necessary from a purely war aspect," he says.

Contrary to some reports, cancelled postage stamps are not needed by the department for the recovery of dues. Canadian postage stamps are coloured with mineral dyes of which there is no shortage whatever.

They still have a considerable value if they can be shipped economically to England, where they can be sold and realize around $225.00 for every 200 pounds weight.

In one of the poorest districts of London there is a children's hospital with 212 beds which sells these cancelled stamps to a dealer and receives 35 cents per pound for those in proper condition. The stamps should not be removed from the paper to which they are attached and should have a quarter of an inch of paper left around the edge for protection.

This information for which we are indebted to the Toronto Star will be of interest to many enquirers.

M.P. And M.L.A.

The term, Member of the Provincial Parliament, is not correct, we learn. There is no such thing as a Provincial Parliament in Canada. There are nine Legislative Assemblies and as many Houses of Assembly, but only one Parliament, and that is at Ottawa.

Only a Dominion representative rates the letters M.P., after his name, while a member of one of the Legislative Assemblies is entitled to use M.L.A. M.P.P. is a malapropism.

Make It Brief, But Pleasant

How many telephone sissies headed the appeal of the Bell Telephone Company lately to keep conversations down to a minimum? There's no doubt about it, quite a number of us don't yet know a good place to stop a telephone conversation when we come to it. We ramble aimlessly on and on, long after what we wanted to say has been said.

On the other hand, we don't like the busy "party" who snatches the telephone up with a bang and answers a ring by snapping an impatient "Yes?" at us. But maybe this party has already had a morning's work disrupted by one of the long-winded sorority. Manners are always manners, however.

The telephone system may be required at any moment for emergency use. As a war measure, prevent waste of time on the telephone—your own and other people's—by knowing what you want to say and saying it. Thank you! Good-bye.

Bathing Beauties

You'd be surprised at the improved appearance of your jewellery after it has been treated to a warm, soapy bath. Use a soft brush to get into the corners, rinse, and dry carefully. Invest in a small cake of jewellers' soap for that extra sparkle. Why does it never seem to cross our minds that jewellery needs cleaning, like everything else we wear?

For years we sat in church behind a dear old lady who wore a handsome pair of silver and amber ear-rings in her pierced ears. She had beared them from her grandmother whose father had given them to her on her wedding day. They had probably been in constant wear for one hundred and ten years and nobody in all that time, so far as we could learn, had ever given a thought to cleaning them.

We might have profited much more from the service if our eyes and mind had not been distracted by those dingy ear-rings!

Just For A Change

We had a lot of fun with our rock gardens, hadn't we?—driving miles, sometimes, to steal rocks and putting them in places where no rocks ever grew. Broken finger bones, sore muscles, bruised toes, to say nothing of the strain on the rear axle, were all forgotten as we brought our booty home in triumph. None of the neighbours had a rock like the one we went out to East Garafraxa for!

Some of us even went the length of buying stones. Buying them, mind you! Spending money on a harmless fad was quite in order in pre-war days. And it's quite true, they created a spot of interest in many a dull garden, even though they did run largely to "hen and chickens."

We Canadians will follow a fad until we run it into the ground. Imagination is what we need, especially when building a garden, imagination controlled by common sense and stimulated by humour, not forgetting plenty of fertilizer, of course.

Some of us garden like children making mud pies, some of us garden like hens scratching, but however we do it, it is good for us if not for the garden. It loosens taut nerves, it eases the sore heart, it creates an extensive appetite, it moulds the figure into graceful lines, and stores up vitamin D against the fur coat days ahead. It fills the mind with lofty thoughts and the store cupboard in the basement with delicious canned fruits and vegetables.

So what about an Herb Garden, just for a change? An aromatic, savoury, pungent, romantic herb garden?

These will do for a start: Artemisia, lemon balm, caraway, chives, dill, feverfew, scented leaf geraniums, horse-radish, marigold, marjoram, mint, parsley, clove pink, sage, summer savoury, southernwood, tansy, thyme.

Horse-radish, sage, mint and chives should be started from roots, one of each is enough.

There will be more seeds in a packet than you need, and this will give you a chance to share them with the neighbours. Or, you might start the seeds in flats and sell the young plants for the benefit of your collection of War Savings Stamps or your pet war charity.

Remember the Sweet Mary—that we used to find in old gardens? And the striped grass? Both would feel at home in the Herb Garden.

Shepherd's Pie

To satisfy the hearty appetite induced by our gardening activities.

One and a half cups ground veal or beef (cooked),
Half cup cooked celery,
Two tablespoons cooked sliced onions,
Half teaspoon salt,
One-eighth teaspoon pepper,
One cup rich gravy,
Two cups hot mashed potatoes.

Place meat in bottom of a well-greased baking dish. Mix together celery and onions, and place over meat. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Pour cup of gravy over. Spread mashed potatoes over top and bake in a hot oven (425 deg. F.) for twenty to twenty-five minutes or until potatoes are lightly browned.

Tax Lesson

As a foreword to an article on raising money for the war, by the United States, the following was presented as pay for the war, by the Senator Walter F. George: "We confiscate only once, but we can tax perpetually, provided we preserve our enterprise." In one sentence, there is provided the answer to those who advocate "In this country, or conscription of wealth. It can be a measure of wealth if used in enterprise, its use becomes fruitful to the public once, because of turnover." (From the St. Callum's Standard, a country, because of turnover.)

Chain Letters

There is luck about chain letters, but not good luck, disregard the chain letter cult, silliness of this sort. It is bad luck to further the chain letter foot and such like nonsense. It lead to a court case for disregarding the law—luck that may refer to the chain letter crime. (From the Advocate of the Forces Advance).

A coating of wax on painted furniture and woodwork will help it retain that bright, new look, and an occasional wiping with a damp cloth will keep it clean. The wood-work should be cleaned thoroughly before waxing. Liquid wax, although it requires more vigorous rubbing, will last longer than the self-polishing kind.

We have heard of a wax coating being given to silver and brass ornaments to prevent tarnishing. Gold picture frames, too, respond well to this treatment, and old packs of cards take on a new lease of life when given a "facial" of wax.

BACKLIGHTING

Backlighting gives the very pleasing halo about this little girl's head. You can get similar effects in your pictures if you watch the light.

BACKLIGHTING is, always has been, of the greatest importance in picture-making—so today let's consider the subject of backlighting.

There are several reasons why every photographer should frequently use backlighting in his picture-making.

First, it's an excellent means of dramatizing any subject.

Second, it's one of the primary methods of adding variety and extra interest to any snapshot collection.

And, on the third count, it's one of the most effective tricks I know for producing out-of-the-ordinary pictures.

All right, now what are the practical aspects of backlighting? In other words, how can it be made to work for you in your picture-making? You'll find its one certain way to get dramatic, interesting pictures.

Well, remember this: composing

Let's Change Gears

THE actual operation of Canada's war in the field is under a governmental department which has been divided, for administrative purposes, into three sections, army, navy and air. Despite the fact that most people agree that the war will not be won until a strong aggressive stroke is carried out, this important government department has been named the Department of National Defence. It is run by a Minister of National Defence, who has with him an Associate Minister of National Defence for the Navy and an Associate Minister of National Defence for Air.

It is still not too late to call a spade a spade. This is war. There is no reason why those responsible for its prosecution should not be called war ministers. The defensive thought which seems to have gripped the whole thinking of the Allies to date is not being eliminated by the retention of such pleasant misnomers.

Who Is Responsible?

FOR some time there has been comment upon the policy of the Canadian Government in passing much important legislation by order-in-council. Many have been heard to say that Canada's Parliament is being ignored on important matters which vitally affect all Canadians.

Canada's Parliament is being ignored on many questions of far-reaching importance. The fact cannot be denied. The Wartime Prices and Trade Board was set up through a series of order-in-council, and the manpower regulations were made effective by the same means. When one reads of the activities in Canada's Parliament, one need not wonder at the Government taking this effective method of handling important questions.

In yesterday's papers there was a report of a member being "named" for his continual breaching of Parliamentary regulations. This is the first time in four decades that this disgrace has been visited upon any member. There are daily occurrences of a similar nature, while not of such great importance, add neither the dignity or dispatch of Canada's business.

One has only to recall the long debate on Canada's wheat problems to understand why an important matter like the price and wage regulations went into effect as they did. This problem is one of the greatest facing Canada today, yet only a scattered handful of members were present to hear the debate. Was it that the members were unable to comprehend the problem, let alone its solution? If that is the answer, how could the members grasp the economic implications of inflation and its curtailment?

A visit to the House of Commons in session is not an edifying spectacle. The members are either on-calling their colleague who has the floor, or are reading newspapers. Canadians should not expect any greater participation in Parliament by the members until they are willing to send men competent to participate in its affairs. Parliament's calibre at the present time is as low as it could be; it should be higher than it ever has been. The members are not solely to blame, those who sent them to Ottawa are also responsible.

Total Mobilization

THE far-reaching regulations covering Canada's manpower needs which were announced Tuesday in the House of Commons show in graphic form the position of Canada as one of the nations now fighting in a grim and terrible war. It has taken the blinds down in no uncertain manner.

The question might well be asked as to why these regulations which now seem so imperative were not introduced long ago, and the answer might be hard to find. When war came to this country, the Dominion was potentially as wealthy a nation as any on earth. Large resources of nearly all the things required for peacetime or wartime economy were on hand. Many of the materials which go into modern warfare had not been developed. Many had been developed during the years of peace in such a way that the whole industry to which they owed their existence was in a state of chaos. Canada had to take her chances with the other democracies in such materials as rubber and tin as these highly important fields of production were controlled by other nations of the world.

On the subject of personnel, Canada was woefully lacking. A vast army of unemployment had, through years of neglect, lost any abilities which they might have had. When the war came, with its call for highly specialized workers in various industries as well as in the fighting forces, a vast training program had to be instituted practically from scratch. That program is just now reaching the stage where its weight is being felt.

The time has now arrived where the unemployment slack which existed in 1939 has gone. Thousands of men and women are running machines who had no previous experience. Industry of various types is feeling the pinch. Drastic action was due, and it has been taken.

There will be criticisms of the program which the Prime Minister outlined in the House last Tuesday, but these are to be expected. There was criticism of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board regulations when they were promulgated, but these criticisms have been dissolved as it became apparent that those who criticised were unable to provide an alternative plan to stem the rising costs of living and rapidly-developing inflation. The same might be the result in the regulations which have been laid down with regard to manpower.

All that remains for loyal citizens is to co-operate not only in the letter of the law, but in its spirit. Let that co-operation be wholehearted. If there are criticisms, let them be constructive, and let them be delivered to the place where they count most. Criticism bandied about from person to person is unfair. It does not give the people criticised an opportunity of replying, and it does not give their country the benefit of the experience which so many critics seem to think their country should act upon.

Remember?

Soon after Hitler came into power and the seething cauldron of European politics started to bubble and sputter, a new game was devised for which all that was required to play it was a rather pleasant flow of language, and, if it was to be played as a radio program, an infectious radio personality which might become something to be looked for by millions of listeners at regular times.

The rules of the game are simple. They consist of scoffing at the power of aggressor nations and belittling their strange-appearing manner of getting things done. Those who played the game logically are immediately scored, for they are no more than scare-mongers and hysterical prophets of doom. This is a fair example of the line which should be taken to play the game successfully:

She is in no case to fight a war with a group of major aggressors. Her army is sadly out of date, having not even one fully armored division, and being short of tanks, armoured cars, anti-tank and anti-aircraft artillery, modern engineering equipment and modern communication devices... As for her air power, it is almost non-existent... Her navy is good, but inferior in strength to that of the United States, and hopelessly handicapped by lack of air support... At Vladivostok Russian long-range bombers hold in chancery her highly-inflammable cities... Likewise at Vladivostok and other Russian ports Numbered submarines and torpedo craft lie ready to strike at her food ships... The American, Dutch and British naval and air forces are fully capable of isolating her from the world and bringing to bear the pressure of a full blockade—a pressure which she could not long endure, but which she lacks the strength to break.

This is by no means a rare example of the game played under the best of auspices. The player in this case was Major George Fielding Elliot, a highly paid military writer and broadcaster. He was speaking, as luck would have it, over a national network program known as the New York Town Meeting of the Air. The number of people who listen to this program each week must number in the millions. Elliot was talking, as the reader has probably guessed, of Japan's chances in a war against the democracies. And he was speaking less than one month before that war started.

It is about time this game was called off for the duration, for the mass of people being just what Hitler accurately described them as being, the results of the game are devastating to say the least. The speaker on this program served the Japanese cause just as surely as if he had been paid by the Nipponese government. It is time more people realized that the real game to be played is a bloody one which asks no quarter. It is a game for keeps, and because so many people are unable or unwilling to think for themselves, the presence of these news analysis and interpreters is a definite menace to the security not only of this country, but the whole company of nations engaged in a project which is by no means "in the bag".

Let's Really Go

GRIMSBY is this week starting something which might quite well be the means of stimulating the people of the whole Dominion into the type of citizenship which is of the highest. This is the inspiration of Mr. Russell T. Kelley the local community, Grimsby and the Township, is being organized for a tight, compact home-front blitz in which every possible wartime service on the part of her citizens is being promoted.

For the success of this plan, several qualifications are needed. The first is a full realization of the needs of the hour. Only when a person knows just what is required of him will he be able to give the best he has. The second qualification is loyalty. This loyalty is to his country, to his town, and to his neighbours. It is the loyalty which makes people do a little more than they are supposed to do, and do it willingly. Another qualification, co-oper-

The Barrier

By Westbrook Pegler
From his column in the New York World-Telegram

If the British were not in the fight the Germans would be at the very throat of this country and the Japanese would be knifing us from Alaska to San Diego. Already the Germans have actually broken through into the eastern waters which are jealously regarded as our own record, not only in Pearl Harbour but everywhere except in the Philippines, gives no American any right to sneer at the British stupidity in Singapore or Narvik or their inability to make a victory stick in North Africa. Like the they were caught unarmored, untrained and unalert, and the war was brought to them by an arrow-killer, who is now our own enemy, after they had accepted the bitter humiliation to gain time or avoid the fight.

Dwell On This

from THE DES MOINES REGISTER

The newspaper as well as the Congressional Record reprinted it when Senator Gillette of Iowa read the pledge found written on the flyleaf of Martin Trigsted of Cherokee, Ia., after his defeat in the battle of Chattooga Thiberry:

"America must win this war. Therefore I will work, I will save. I will sacrifice, I will endure; I will fight cheerfully and do my utmost, as if the issue of the whole struggle depended on me alone."

Senator Gillette suggested that members of Congress might do well to recite it daily, after the opening prayer.

So might we all.

Kind looks, kind words, kind acts, and warm handshakes—these are secondary means of grace when men are in trouble and are fighting their unseen battles.—John Hall.

tion, the co-operation which makes an active army or a home-front army successful as a fighting unit. It is the co-operation which makes the suggestion that a rather medial or unpleasant task needs doing answered with spirit and despatch.

During this week several meetings of various club and association representatives have been held, and many angles in the home-front effort have been discussed. Plans have been outlined for active services on Main Street, and the call to arms is scheduled for next Sunday. It is to be hoped that every man, woman and child will find it possible to attend church at least once on that occasion. Having started well in that endeavour, the whole program will evolve into one which can reflect the greatest possible credit on Grimsby as a live community. Grimsby has done and is doing well. When all the little chinks and gaps are closed, and the town really moves, we may well become the Canadian wonder-town. Let's really go!

Hoarding And Rationing

from CANADIAN BUSINESS

Warned of impending shortages, low citizens by article hoarding merely intensifies tight situations, and creates shortages where none should exist. Such action not only leads to expensive rationing and irksome policing, but it retards the country's effort to trip up and destroy the enemy before he gets too close to our shores.

Grimsby And District Red Cross

A plan is being considered by the committee of Grimsby and District Red Cross, which met in regular session on Tuesday, whereby the Booth on the Municipal Grounds might be operated this summer by the twelve Red Cross working groups, each taking charge for a week. In the summers of 1940-41 the booth was operated by church and other organizations for the Red Cross, and a number of women who belong to more than one organization found themselves called upon several times to assist. It is felt the new plan, if put into effect, will avoid this overlapping of woman power.

The booth is increasingly popular with Grimsby people, who enjoy taking their visitors to tea or dinner there on summer afternoons and evenings.

Groups making quilts for the Red Cross have found themselves confronted with the fact that no more flannelette for backing quilts is obtainable, the reason being that all present stocks of cotton are required by the Government. To overcome the difficulty Branches are asked by Red Cross Headquarters to make patchwork backs for their quilts.

The Branch has just completed a shipment of one thousand articles, and has accepted a large quota of boys' clothing and women's coats to be made up. The increasing difficulty in obtaining materials makes it impossible to say just when the quotas will be allocated to the groups. Leaders are asked to stand by; they will be notified as soon as supplies now on order come to hand.

Rebekah Card Party

On Tuesday evening, March 24, the Alexina Rebekah Lodge sponsored a bridge and euchre party in the Masonic Hall. There were seven tables in play and the prize winners for the evening were bridge, Mrs. D. Cloughley; euchre, Mrs. Wm. Chivers; lucky draw, Miss A. Lymburner. At the conclusion of play refreshments were served by the ladies of the lodge. The next card party to be held by the Rebekah Lodge will be on Tuesday evening, April 14.

Shelton and Mrs. L. Larsen, clinic committee; Mrs. Frank Merritt, pianist. There will be a meeting on Tuesday evening, March 31, at the home of Mrs. H. Prize winner of the bridges were Mrs. Norman Johnson, Mrs. M. S. Nelles, Mrs. Douglas Hartnett and Miss Helen Cloughley. Mrs. Jewson expressed her thanks to those who had opened their homes for this project and the many who had contributed to the success of the venture.

The regular monthly meeting the Lincoln Loyalist Chapter of the I.O.D.E. will be held next Monday afternoon in the chapter rooms.

A Very Old Barometer

MUCH useful weather lore can be acquired from the observation of clouds and beasts, of sunsets and birds and insects. Scientists agree that weather folklore, the result of generations of experience, is in the main correct. The following table can conveniently and cheaply take the place of a barometer:

A mackerel sky, Not twenty-four hours dry.

Clouds flying against the wind show rain on the way.

The low flight of birds indicates rain.

Bees will not swarm Before a near storm.

Smoke fails to the ground before rain.

A red sun has water in his eye. Doors and windows are hard to shut before wet.

Tobacco becomes moist preceding rain.

When cattle go to pasture and lie down early in the day, it indicates rain.

The moon with a circle brings water in her basket.

Enough blue sky in the northwest to make a Scotchman a jester is a sign of approaching clear weather.

Clouds upon hills if rising do not bring rain.

When swallows in evening fly high and chirp fair weather follows.

It is sure to be a dry moon if it lies on its back so that you can hang your hat on its horn.

Bats flying late show fair weather next day.

If wild geese gang out to sea, Good weather there will be.

Evening red and morning gray.

Two sure signs of one fine day.

Cattle when they gather with tails to windward promise a gale.

When birds suddenly cease to sing, thunder may be expected.

When the sun in the morning is breaking through clouds and scorching, a thunderstorm follows in the afternoon.

March in January, January in March, I fear.

Hoar frost on May 1st promises a good harvest.

A green Christmas makes a full churchyard.

After a wet year, cold one.

Leap year was never a good sheep year.

April Fools' Day

This is a survival of another of those ancient festivals, the origin of which is lost in the mists of antiquity. The name is given to April 1st and comes from the custom of playing practical jokes on one's friends and neighbours. It seems to be connected in some way with the once universal festivities held at the spring equinox.

A similar custom has prevailed in India from time immemorial on the festival of Holi, the last day of which is the 31st of March, when people are unsuspectingly sent on foolish errands.

In Great Britain the 1st of April was observed as a festival from ancient times, but it was not until the beginning of the 18th century that the custom of April-fools became common.

In Scotland they call it "hunting the gowk," and the victims were called "April-gowks," gowk being the Scottish word for cuckoo. In that country as in many others the cuckoo is a term of contempt.

The custom of April-fooling has almost died out, but we doubt if it will be mourned. To mislead people just to laugh at their discomfiture is poor sport.

One person I have to make good myself. But my duty to my neighbour is much more nearly expressed by saying that I have to make him happy — if I may. — Robert Louis Stevenson.

FIREWORKS*At Moore's Theatre

Showing at Moore's Theatre on April 1 and 2 is the film "49th Parallel", a propaganda melodrama.

This is one of the few pictures that doesn't boast of a glamorous actress or a touching love-story to make it a success. This is a story of a band of U-boat survivors and their adventures in seeking escape across the Dominion. But then, it is really more than that—it is a moving and convincing exposé of the conflict between the tradition and thought of free democracies and the inhuman savagery of a Nazism which has set a world in flames.

This film can boast, however, of such famous actors as Leslie Howard, Laurence Olivier, Raymond Massey, and Anton Walbrook. They do no more and no less creditable work than a comparative newcomer, Eric Portman, whose ruthless and myopic U-boat commander is a cleverly chiselled portrait.

The scenic Canadian setting is such that makes a camera-man into an artist. The setting of the film travels from the Eskimo north, through the Rockies and the wheatfields, across the Dominion, to come to rest at last in our own part of the country, the Niagara Peninsula.

Out of the hands of pain and suffering more gifts have come to us than from any other source.—J. M. Blaik.

EDRIC S. JOHNSON, Mayor.
